Government cuts are forcing us to make difficult decisions as a Council, but St. Helens Labour will always do what it can to make a difference, if all we do as Councillors is balance a budget we fail, therefore The next Labour administration will:

Cllr Grunewald added "I am very clear that I want St. Helens to be a place where businesses flourish, the vulnerable are protected and where our young people have the opportunities they deserve. A place where you know that Labour is 'ON YOUR SIDE' these pledges, despite the tough times do that."

Son's cancer five years after sis died

By Chris Amery

@ChrisAmery2

Abigail Ledsham's battle with degenerative Sandhoff's Disease - which rendered her unable to see, drink, eat or even breathe by herself - captured the hearts of Reporter readers throughout her tragically short life.

But now, five-and-a-half years after Abigail succumbed to the condition just days short of her second birthday, her older brother, Harrison, 11, has been diagnosed with bone cancer. The Haydock youngster, who plays rugby for Blackbrook, has already started a course of draining chemotherapy before a planned operation to remove a tumour just above his knee.

Mum Karen said: "We were in shock when we found out. We've not been the luckiest family. I know it sounds awful but we almost wish this had happened to someone else instead."

Baby died after co-sleeping tragedy

By Chris Amery
chris.amery@jpress.co.uk
@ChrisAmery2

A six-month-old baby died after sharing a bed with his drug-taking parents, an inquest heard.

Tragic Kevin Stubbington, of Haydock, was pronounced dead after being rushed to Whiston Hospital on the afternoon of June 15 last year.

An inquest held at St Helens Town Hall heard how Kevin's parents, Lynsey Stubbington and Stephen Curry, had earlier dropped him off to be cared for by a family friend.

But Kevin, who had suffered from foetal growth restriction and been born with a cleft foot, wouldn't settle and was taken back to his Elizabeth Road home.

When he then wouldn't settle in his cot, his parents put him in the bed between them.

But when they awoke at about midday they found him "lifeless".

The inquest was held at St Helens Town Hall

Tragically, Kevin was pronounced dead shortly after his arrival at Whiston Hospital.

Police subsequently found a crack pipe at the address and noted that both his parents were known to be users of illicit drugs, including heroin and cannabis.

Tests showed that both parents had drugs in their system at the time of Kevin's death - which may have affected their judgement.

A post mortem examination found no evidence of violence or trauma to Kevin's body and no natural disease process which could have accounted for his death.

Pathologists recorded that the cause of death was "unascertained" but pointed to the possibility of accidental overlay by one of the parents given their drug use and the fact that he had been in the same bed.

Coroner Christopher Sumner recorded an open verdict.

Hospice staff march with the Jam Jar Army

By Chris Amery
chris.amery@jpress.co.uk
Tel: 07860 530826

Willowbrook Hospice staff have throw their support behind the St Helens Reporter's Jam Jar Army campaign.

Our campaign encourages generous readers to keep hold of their old jam jars and fill them with spare change before donating it to the local hospice.

Willowbrook staff nurse Gemma Sudworth and long-time trustee Gordon Spencer both backed the campaign, which aims to help pay for more nurses and more equipment – especially in light of ongoing building work which will see two new bedrooms created.

Gordon, a Willowbrook trustee for the last 20 years, said: "Funding is the fuel that drives the clinical excellence which benefits patients. That's how I see it.

"Only around a third of our funding comes from the Government. The rest has to be raised via the community who, either directly or indirectly, benefit from the service.

"By 2020 one in two people will at some stage require the help of cancer services. If that doesn't focus people's minds - nothing will."

He added: "We like to think of Willowbrook as a gold standard hospice which is both clinically-led and patient-focused."

Willowbrook Hospice, a registered charity, currently costs around £3m a year to run and is helped out along the way by some 500-plus volunteers.

It currently operates just 10 beds - despite serving a community of 280,000 people but that figure is set to rise to 12 upon the completion of building work later this year.

Gemma said: "We definitely need more nurses - especially with the two new bedrooms that are being built. Patients can have complex needs too.

"Working at Willowbrook is hard but really rewarding. Palliative care is always something I've wanted to do and Willowbrook is a special place to work. Everybody who works here, whatever their job, is playing a vital role."

Our bold campaign aims to raise £10,000 for the town's hospice to pay the salary of an extra nurse.

That extra funding will make a massive difference - and doing your bit couldn't be easier.

Get yourself a jam jar, enjoy the contents, cut out the logo on the side of this page, then start filling it with spare change or any cash you have lying about.

You can have as many jam jars as you like; perhaps one at home and one at work. Schools, homes, businesses and sports clubs are all welcome to take part.

And it couldn't easier to get creative. Hold your own Jam Jar Army tea party, with the proceeds going straight into your jam jar; or give up that daily treat and stick the cash you've saved straight into the jar!

Once you've filled your Jam Jar, simply hand it in at the hospice's fund-raising office in Claughton Street or any of the hospice's 11 shops throughout the borough.

M6 closure

A section of the M6 had to be closed after smoke was seen billowing from a horse box. Police blocked off all lanes on the M6 northbound, near to junction 23 in Haydock at noon on Saturday when the brakes overheated. The horse and driver escaped unharmed.

'We're not the luckiest family'

By Chris Amery
chris.amery@jpress.co.uk
@ChrisAmery2

How much heartache and anguish can one family bear?

That was the question on devastated Karen Ledsham's lips after her 11-year-old son was diagnosed with bone cancer - less than six years after her daughter succumbed to an ultra-rare disease.

Legh Vale Primary School pupil Harrison Ledsham, of Liverpool Road, Haydock, was diagnosed with an osteosarcoma tumour above his left knee just weeks after doctors had put the discomfort he was experiencing down to growing pains.

His little sister, Abigail, lost her brave battle with Sandhoff's Disease - a degenerative condition which rendered her unable to see, drink, eat or even breathe by herself - in October 2008, days before her second birthday.

Mum Karen, 41, said: "We were in shock when we found out. We've not been the luckiest family. I know it sounds awful but we almost wish this had happened to someone else instead.

"I think we're even more stressed at the moment because of what happened with Abigail. Going back to Alder Hey was difficult for us all. Being back there just brought all the emotions flooding back.

"But Harrison's a tough lad and we've told him he needs to have a positive attitude to tackle this head-on. We've got a battle on our hands again but he will beat it - he has to beat it."

Harrison, a talented sportsman and musician who plays both the piano and the French horn, had been suffering pain in his leg for several weeks.

When it didn't get any better with rest, he went to hospital for an x-ray and a second opinion was sought from experts in Birmingham.

The results of a biopsy then led to the cancer diagnosis and Harrison was called in to Alder Hey to start an intensive course of chemotherapy the very next day.

Once the initial 10 weeks of chemo are up, Harrison, who plays junior rugby for Blackbrook and is due to start senior school at Haydock High in September, will undergo an operation to remove the tumour before undergoing a further 16 weeks of chemo.

Karen, a nurse, added: "The treatment has to be very intense because it's an aggressive form of cancer. Harrison says he's determined to kick cancer's butt! We're still trying to get him into school a few afternoons a week but this has knocked him for six."

COMMENT

Family deserve more luck

It's virtually impossible for us to imagine what the Ledsham family are going through at this very difficult time.

Having lost little Abigail to ultra-rare Sandhoff's Disease, they were well within their rights to hope for a little more luck.

But now her brother, Harrison, has a fight on his hands after being diagnosed with bone cancer.

It really is a cruel, cruel blow.

We're sure all Reporter readers will join us in wishing Abigail's brother all the best in his cancer battle.

Jam Jar army on the march

The ball is already well and truly rolling in the Reporter's innovative Jam Jar Army campaign - and we'd love you to join us!

To do so, simply hang onto your old jam jars and gradually fill them with spare change to donate to Willowbrook Hospice.

YOUR LETTERS

Our correspondent is urging readers to back the St Helens Reporter's Jam Jar Army campaign

HOUSING

Make shortage a top priority

As a resident of St Helens, I want our newly elected councillors to make solving the housing shortage their top priority after Thursday, May 22.

Many of us are finding it really hard to save enough money to get on the housing ladder, or are struggling with increasing rents while our salaries are staying the same.

I hope that all council candidates will acknowledge this reality and commit to tackling this problem. They need to think about how we can get the right homes, in the right place, at the right price for everybody in St Helens.

I believe we can solve our housing shortage and that's why I'm saying Yes to Homes in St Helens. All we need now are the politicians who can make this a reality.

Find out more about Yes to Homes at www.yestohomes.co.uk.

CAMPAIGN

Let's get behind the hospice

The St Helens Reporter's Jam Jar Army campaign to raise money for Willowbrook Hospice is a great idea.

Our hospice is a precious resource, and one which everyone should be supporting.

Not everyone has the time or the capacity to embark on monster charity fund-raising epic. But everyone can toss some spare change - big or small! - into a jam jar and start collecting Willowbrook.

I for one have already got my jam jar in action and urge others to do the same.

HEALTH SERVICE

NHS staff do a terrific job

I have read so much recently about the pitfalls of the National Health Service and I think its about time we all applauded this wonderful service we are lucky (very lucky) to have in this country.

From poorly people to helpless drunks, no one is charged or turned away, only helped.

I am very lucky to live across the road from another branch of the caring profession, the humble chemist.

They also serve the public with care and respect, giving out helpful advice and consideration.

So please, let's all give a big thank you to this profession and the lovely country in which we live.

feed bankers

Fracking is being presented as a boom for Lancashire, however, residents have not been consulted and are denied a say about the numerous drawbacks.

Anti-fracking residents point to the many studies which show the costs of production far outweigh the benefits of this form of energy production.

Great play is made of bringing jobs to this area. Many of these will be technical jobs, most likely fulfilled by outside contractors, who will bring their own skilled operatives.

They may need quite a few lorry drivers as our country roads are likely to be choked with their heavy plant machinery and water supplies for the wells.

The gas will be sold within the European Union and to countries like China. I suspect trade deals have already been baked into the mix.

Meanwhile, Lancashire residents are going to have to put up with perhaps hundreds of horizontal drilling rigs which will be able to bore underneath our properties with impunity.

The noted oil exploration expert Ian R Crane has advised residents to conduct full structural surveys on our houses now before earthquakes commence because we will have to prove in a court of law that it was their underground explosions that caused our properties to subside.

Many of us know where this drive for fracking is coming from. It is the same greedy banking industry and their political advocates that do the bidding for these get rich quick schemes. Future generations will not excuse our disregard for our environment when so many viable alternative energy production schemes already exist.

JOBS

New rules abomination

Would someone tell the Government that there is genuine unemployment in the North, but that we don't have the public transport to get us to posts within the one hour 30 minutes travelling time that is set?

Making people sign on daily will not create any extra jobs, unless they need more DWP employees to deal with them.

BENEFITS

Mind the greed gap

Recently, in tabloid newspapers and local letters pages, there have been an increasing number of critical comments about the abuse of state benefits.

They imply most, on tax funded payments, squander it on smoking, drinking, wide screen HD televisions and gambling. Several governments, over recent years, have brought in strict, more onerous measures to combat the scroungers. Still many think these measures are not tough enough.

Those critical seem to be unaware of the well-documented facts. Of the increasing suffering of genuine people on benefits – including those on low pay.

It is the unchecked, fastest growing gap between the rich, those who demand and get far more than their worth, and the rest.

It is this greed and mismanagement, for several years, by many of those at the top, of UK society, which has so greatly divided our society.

Hospital's car park revenue revealed

BY ANDY MOFFATT
andy.moffatt@jpress.co.uk
Tel: 0786 05311304

Almost £800,000 was raised by parking tickets at St Helens and Whiston hospitals over the past 12 months, the Reporter can today reveal.

Patients are charged £6 to use Whiston Hospital's car park for six hours

NHS chiefs raked in the staggering figure after introducing a doubling of charges part way through the year.

The price rise was announced mid-way through 2013, with patients now charged £3 for a three hour stay and £6 for a six hour visit.

However, hospital bosses say patients are not being deterred from using their parking facilities by what many see as excessive ticketing prices.

None of the cash made by charging folk to park at St Helens and Whiston is spent directly on health services.

Instead the money generated by the ever-controversial tariffs is ploughed back into security and management of the parking facilities themselves.

Parking charges at local hospitals have been an unpalatable, if accepted, way of life in St Helens for visitors and patients for more than a decade.

The money is spent on funding security of the car parks and their management contracts; operating CCTV and the car park maintenance.

Hospital chiefs said parking charges were increased last year to makes charges at both Whiston and St Helens consistent.

Figures obtained by the Reporter show the trust collected £783,648 from parking fares during 2013.

Cash collected by from fees in the 2011/12 financial year stood at £1.1m but that figures includes patient and staff charges.

A trust spokesperson said: "Car parking at both hospital sites is in high demand, rising in line with increased demand for hospital services.

"The trust has introduced a number of concessions in parking charges, including a lower daily rate and a considerable discount for those using the car parking facilities on a regular basis, which is proving extremely popular.

"The trust aims to keep its car parking charges to a minimum, with fees that are amongst the lowest in the region. We make no profit from the revenue of the car parks."

DELVING INTO THE ARCHIVES...

Train robbery suspect and farmer's gate row

Here's what was hitting the headlines in the St Helens Reporter 50 years ago this week.

Jack Chesworth, the St Helens Town Hall keeper, was filming some of his friends getting on a train at Liverpool Lime Street when he was suddenly surrounded by railway detectives and uniformed police - who seized his camera and film.

After apologising to Mr Chesworth, police explained that that they feared he was a train robber filming boxes of gold being loaded onto the London-bound express.

The 53-year-old said: "I didn't notice the boxes being loaded onto the train and didn't spot the policemen until they swooped on me. I was amazed and later discovered that St Helens CID had been asked to check my details."

In other news, a married girl of 16 and her mother appeared before St Helens Magistrates after a policeman spotted the girl drinking in a pub.

Kathleen Kynaston was fined £1 for consuming beer in the Wellington Hotel while under 18. Stella Ellis was fined £2 for buying the inttoxicating liquor.

Mrs Ellis told the court: "Kathleen, being nervous, did not like stopping in on her own and I just took her out."

Elsewhere, farmer Bill Abbott erected a gate fence across winding Carr Mill Road just after Christmas in a bid to reduce the amount of traffic passing his farmhouse.

Mr Abbott, 27, argued that he was within his rights to bar the way because he said the road ran through the land he rented.

But St Helens Corporation held a very different opinion, claiming it was a public highway. The final decision was set to be made by the Transport Minister.

Troops' Royal seal of approval

The Prince of Wales - later King Edward VIII - visited St Helens to honour Pilkington's First World War veterans at City Road.

These included distinguished holders of the Victoria Cross Sgt John Molyneux and Cpl John Davies.

The Prince received a rapturous welcome throughout, including a tour of Victoria Park - which had been named after his mother.

The Royal cavalcade then returned to Bishop Road, with scouts, girl guides and members of the public lining the route.

On then to Dentons Green Lane before the pageantry headed for Knowsley Hall, where HRH was a guest of Lord Derby.

This fantastic photo was kindly brought in by ex-journalist Denis Whittle.

'Champions who will never be forgotten'

BY CHRIS AMERY

@ChrisAmery2

Tributes have been paid to two St Helens community champions who have died.

Former councillor Bessie Griffin (pictured) passed away at the weekend following a long battle with dementia.

Town centre chaplain Marjorie Conroy has also passed away after suffering from cancer.

Bessie served as a councillor from 1986 to 2008, holding positions on the licensing committee, adult social care and as a member of the Red Bank board.

St Helens Council leader Barrie Grunewald led the tributes to Mrs Griffin

He said: "Bessie was known as a champion for the disadvantaged and worked tirelessly to advance their cause. She had great compassion for people."

Council chief executive Carole Hudson added: "Bessie was a very hard working member of the council, totally committed to her ward and constituents."

Bessie Griffin's funeral is set to be held at Bispham Methodist Church - opposite the old Billinge Hospital site - at 11.30am on Monday, May 19, followed by cremation an hour later at St Helens Crematorium.

Mrs Hudson also led the tributes to town centre chaplain Marjorie Conroy.

She said: "Marjorie was a very special person and was truly loved by all who knew her. As town centre chaplain, she worked closely with local businesses and had great compassion for people, even while battling her own illnesses. She was determined to continue working and supporting local people and businesses, for as long as she could. She helped many people cope with trauma, grief and stress."

Estate agent admits baseball bat offence

A St Helens estate agent admitted a charge of possession of an offensive weapon on the day he was due to stand trial.

Richard Hall, of Brooklands Estate Agents, changed his plea to guilty at Liverpool Crown Court last Thursday (May 8) following an incident in Newton-le-Willows last summer.

Hall, 40, had initially been charged with common assault and possession of an offensive weapon - a baseball bat - following an altercation with a client which started inside his work premises before spilling out onto the High Street at about 2pm on July 10 last year.

He denies the assault charge and was rearranged on it.

Hall, of Oak Tree Road, Eccleston, was released on conditional bail prior to a sentencing hearing at Liverpool Crown Court next month.

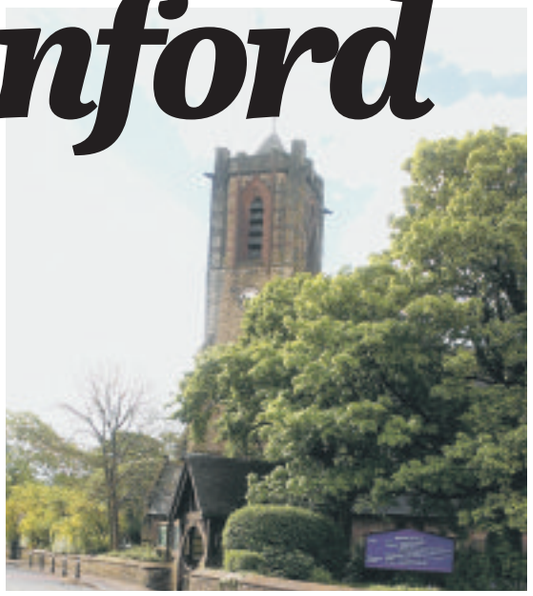
SPOTLIGHT ON Rainford



RAINFORD is the home of a brand new business forum and network group called Rainford Hub.

Chairman Lynda Shave said: "We wanted to form a networking forum to keep the village of Rainford alive and are inviting every business to join us, to work together to keep new and inventive social occasions to draw in readers of the St Helens Reporter from across the borough."

As an early start to show the Rainford community they mean good business, a group of Rainford business people members have decided to bring back the hugely popular Christmas Fayre last held in 2011 where £6000 was raised for Macmillan.

Various stalls will sell Christmas festivities like cake, mulled wine and special guest will be Father Christmas. On the day itself, local bands and choirs, school and community groups will entertain and a variety of food and refreshments sourced locally will be available to buy.

There will be interactive stalls for children and a small fair. Rainford Hub hope that the Fayre will again be a success with support from local and borough residents at large, all are welcome for a day of traditional and modern fun on Saturday December 6.

Rainford Hub are also pleased to announce the 50th anniversary of Houghton's Newsagents celebrating this July.

The business was started by Audrey and Dennis Houghton, today their sons, Chris and Adrian run the business and are looking forward to celebrating this momentous year.

The village post office is due to close from its present site and Houghton's stepped in. A brand new Post Office will open within Houghton's. It's an exciting time at the shop as preparations to expand the business are well underway. The newsagents shop has been one of the main focal points for the community for many years and the relocation of the Post Office will hopefully enhance this further.

SPOTLIGHT ON RAINFORD

The family hope that by helping to provide key services for the community's their business will continue for many more years to come.

Rainford HUB is a voluntary, non-political group of local business people working together to help make Rainford a thriving, more sustainable community and a better place for everyone to live and work.

The objectives are

- To help businesses to grow and flourish, to share our knowledge, experience and expertise.
- To provide a working partnership between business and the community.
- To engage with the local authority and enterprise organisations to improve the infrastructure and facilities in the village.
- To promote local shopping, eating, entertainment and special events in the village.
- To work with local schools and colleges, support community groups and voluntary projects

The Hub are planning a website with free business directory, local news and information. There will also be regular meetings, networking, special group talks and community projects.

They are holding a "Business Breakfast" at 7.30am on June 11 at the Village Hall to explain the plans to all the businesses and ask them for their input and ideas. Membership and web Directory listing forms can be completed at the meeting. They expect to have a guest speaker present to give people a taster of future meetings. They have already formed working groups to manage specific projects and activities.

A coffee morning in the Church Hall is planned for June 7 to help raise funds for the Christmas Fayre and you are invited to come along and meet members of the newly formed Rainford Hub.

One of the big concerns is Village life. The Hub have been talking with St Helens Planning and Environmental officers, councillors and other agencies with the aim of creating a long term plan to improve the Village Centre.

The Hub have already compiled a list of 165 businesses operating in the Rainford. They are sure that there are many more especially businesses working from home, so if that's you there is a special email address to which you can contact them on to register at info@rainfordhub.co.uk.

The full launch of Rainford Hub will be in September when plans to have the new website live and running with Rainsford's Business Directory, local information and details of projects, as well as forthcoming meetings and talks.

As you would expect from the title The Hub it is certainly wheels in motion to create better business, better environment and a better life for the community and people at large the very hub of existence here in Rainford.

SPOTLIGHT ON RAINFORD

The school has been fortunate to have had a rebuild under the Building Schools for the Future that was re-opened fully in September 2013. The new building provides an inspiring and modern learning environment for the students and the teachers to focus on learning.

The school site has state of the art facilities for Science, Design and Technology and ICT. The new learning environment for Art, Music and Drama will enable our students to produce work of an even higher standard and produce performances the school can celebrate with its community.

Corpus Christi RC School is a happy successful primary school in Rainford. They have four junior and two infant classrooms and a Foundation Unit which combines reception and nursery pupils. They have a dedicated staff, governing body and PFA, who work hard to provide a range of opportunities within and beyond the curriculum.

They strive to provide excellence and enjoyment in all that they do and offer children high quality learning experiences. The school curriculum is challenging and exciting and with many visits out and visitors in school to enhance the children's experience and learning.

Daily Poppins started in 1997, they provide well in excess of a million hours of cleaning service across the UK. With over 80 per cent of the services so far provided being repeat, whether it be weekly, fortnightly, monthly or ad hoc. Because of the high rate of repeat customers this gives them confidence to feel they are getting it right.

This is the principal reason they are continuing to adapt and evolve their business model to ensure that they are meeting customers' expectations. During 2014 they will be adding to their services specialist steam cleaning which will allow them to offer oven cleaning, tile grout cleaning, specialist cleaning of shower screens and seals, kitchen cupboard fronts etc.; all without the need of strong and dangerous cleaning fluids.

O2 Business Centre at Comms House Rainford | 01744 780062 | www.commsplusltd.com

Down to business in a new location

Local Businessman Steve Roberts has just relocated his O2 Headquarters to the newly renovated Comms House, formally known as the Rainford Methodist Church located at the Bridge Inn end of the village.

Before renovation

Steve who has lived in Rainford for the majority of his life, now lives in Higher Lane with wife Liza and their 3 boys.

I first started working in the Mobile Phone Industry exactly 20 years ago. Working for the Mobile Phone Store, then Cellnet, BtCellent and then O2 direct.

Then just 8 years ago came my opportunity to open my first store at the Middlebrook Retail Park in Bolton.

Our HQ was home based and as our business grew we generated the requirement for more suitable office space. We then spent 4 very happy years at Alpine House with the best landlord in the world Sue Faulkner.

We now have 16 Retail stores across North England and Wales, with the nearest store to Rainford being at the Aintree Race Course Retail Park.

It has however been massively important to base our business locally and support other local businesses, sports teams and schools. As well as bringing business people into the village for meetings, we have kept our recruitment local and look to support all other local businesses from the Tartan Tea Rooms, 'just next door' to Rigby Insurance for all your Insurance requirements.

I'm very proud to be part of the village and be able to put something back. Rainford Rangers now have their home behind Best Properties, (call June for all your Estate Agent requirements) we have our own Tennis, Cricket and Golf Clubs and things are looking and feeling great.

Being part of the newly formed Rainford Business Hub is a great honour as they share my vision to keep things local and help businesses grow. It is so sad to see the loss of our last bank Santander and the local post office in the village. The village has seen many businesses come and go over the years and we need to strive to develop our community for the future generations. Local newsagent Adrian Houghton is a fine example of this, offering all post office services at the newsagents, this complimenting the existing post office facilities offered by Paul Bromilow at Bromilows, Rainford Junction.

For all of your personal and business mobile phone requirements, no matter what network you are on.

Keep it local and call into the O2 Business Centre at Comms House Rainford or call 01744 780062.

Suspended jail for third drink driving offence

By Chris Amery
chris.amery@jpress.co.uk
@ChrisAmery2

A motorist who had an open can of lager in his car when he was stopped by police had been convicted of drink driving twice before.

Michael Boland, of Haydock, admitted a third drink driving offence after he was being stopped by police in Wigan shortly before midnight on March 21.

Wigan Magistrates' Court heard how officers also found a small bag of cocaine on the passenger seat of the 30-year-old's car.

Katie Beattie, prosecuting, told how plain clothes officers spotted Boland driving erratically and at speed along Lily Lane, Bamfurlong, towards Ashton. They watched as the vehicle swerved across the road before the driver pulled up outside a takeaway.

Spotting an open can of lager in the car, the officers asked Boland if he had been drinking.

He admitted to having downed "a couple of pints" before failing a roadside breath test.

Boland, who was found to be nearly double the legal drink drive limit, also pointed the officers in the direction of the bag of cocaine but insisted it was for his own personal use.

The defendant, who was unrepresented, told Magistrates of his "deep remorse" - despite previous drink driving convictions in 2003 and 2009.

He said: "I don't seek to justify my actions but it wasn't a deliberate drink driving offence. I had slept for four or five hours before getting in the car and didn't know I was still over the limit.

"The can of lager in the car wasn't mine - it was my brother's from the day before."

Magistrates handed Boland, of Elizabeth Road, a four-month jail sentence but suspended it for 12 months.

They also banned him from driving for 44 months and , ordered him to complete 80 hours unpaid work and pay a £250 fine, £100 towards prosecution costs and an £80 victim surcharge.

Welcome to

Love your local market

Residents are being urged to show how much their local markets mean to them as part of a national event that celebrates the places where people meet and trade.

Love Your Local Market fortnight (14 to 28 May) turns the spotlight on markets across the country. It's supported by market traders, operators, the government and other partners.

The campaign aims to build affection and support for markets by enhancing their status within the local community - and highlighting the importance of markets as community assets.

St Helens Council's Markets Manager Kevin Gavin said: "The campaign is now an annual event that helps markets become more successful by increasing footfall and generating economic activity."

St Helens borough is home to two of the region's most popular markets - the St Mary's indoor market in the town centre and Earlestown market.

St Mary's boasts over 50 stalls. Whether it's tasty local produce, everyday essentials or great value garments, it's all there under one roof - in an area reminiscent of a traditional market hall, but with all the modern day comforts of a shopping precinct, including the recently renovated Coffee Stop café.

The 700-year old Earlestown Friday Market - next to Earlestown Town Hall - attracts sellers from across the North West. Every week there are over 150 stalls offering everything from pies to protective clothing and furniture to footwear.

Local fresh produce and products also feature prominently, with mouth-watering selections of cakes, confectionary, fresh meat and fish and fruit and veg on display.

There's a host of household products too - electrical goods, tools and hardware - along with the latest men's fashions, ladies and children's wear, bags and jewellery.

And if you fancy yourself as a bit of a wheeler and dealer, why not clear out that loft and set up your own stall at Earlestown's ever-popular Saturday Flea Market? It's a great place to pick up a bargain or sell those unwanted items. Stalls are allocated at 7am on Saturdays on a first come-first served basis.

There's also the Chalon Way car boot sale, which takes place every Sunday at Chalon Way Car Park, next to the World of Glass, in St Helens town centre.

Natasha Seale who runs Tiny Toes babywear at St Mary's Market said: "Shopping at a local market is far more fun - and potentially much better value - than taking a trip down the high street. You'll often find things that you can't buy anywhere else and meet retailers who go the extra mile to ensure that you leave a satisfied customer."

St Helens town centre provides a great range of high street stores and independent shops, quality restaurants, pubs and bars. Easily accessible car parking can be found at Chalon Way Car Park and throughout the town centre.

Police appeal out for burglary witnesses

BY CHRIS AMERY
chris.amery@jpress.co.uk
@ChrisAmery2

Police want to hear from motorists who may have information about a burglary in broad daylight.

Officers were called to a house on Rookery Lane, Rainford, shortly before 5pm after receiving a report that crooks had forced their way into the property and ransacked the premises.

It is believed that the offence occurred some time between 11am and 4.30pm. Nothing was stolen.

Crime Scene Investigators attended to forensically examine the house and an investigation into the incident is continuing.

Det Insp Martin Earl, of St Helens CID, said: "Cracking down on domestic burglaries is one of our key priorities in St Helens and we are determined to arrest the people responsible for this incident.

"On the day it happened, Rookery Lane had some roadworks on it with temporary lights controlling traffic.

The road is on the outskirts of Rainford villageand is always busy, especially at rush hour.

"It's likely traffic was queuing through the day and we believe some drivers may have seen the offenders running away from the property whilst they were waiting for the lights to change.

If you were on Rookery Lane on May 1 and saw anyone acting suspiciously, or you have any other information about this burglary, I'd appeal to you to get in touch with us."

Anyone with information can call detectives in St Helens CID on 0151 777 6812 or Crimestoppers, in confidence, on 0800 555 111.

End of an era for Wigan club

One of Wigan's premier nightclubs, The Kaff will close this month when owner David Collict steps down.

David was responsible for creating and operating some of the most successful and well known venues in the north west, including the iconic Wigan Pier, Chaplins, 51st State, The Playhouse, The Boulevard and Princes nightclub.

David can also be credited for bringing huge acts to Wigan such as Bob Monkhouse, Iron Maiden and Deep Purple's Ian Gillan.

New owner Matthew Kent takes a lease on the venue and has big plans for its future. Matthew is the co-owner of the dance brand Acceleration and has a solid background in multiple dance scenes. He is renowned for introducing many top foreign djs to the UK from as far afield as Spain, Poland and Australia. Matthew has held numerous events across the north including Leeds, Blackburn, Halifax, Blackpool and Wigan.

David said 'I am sure Matthew will do Wigan proud and fill the huge void left in the dance scene since the closure of Wigan Pier, Evolution and Surfers on king street.

Matthew told us 'Wigan clubbers have been left homeless so to speak and are desperate for a new dance venue, we are refurbishing all three floors and installing a new sound system and lighting for our future clientele to give them the best clubbing experience possible.'

Clubbers from local towns St Helens, Leigh, Ormskirk, Warrington and Bolton have also shown a keen interest in the new venue, which is to be named PURE.

Matthew said he will pull out all the stops to ensure that the club attracts the biggest artists and brands from the UK and abroad to put Wigan back on the map.

David said 'It is sad to see Wigan Pier being demolished but I will always have a smile on my face when I see the crowd in fancy dress on boxing night, a night that I started way back in 1979!'

PURE opens on Sunday 25th May (Bank Holiday Sunday) with DJ's Dave Whelan & Mike Di Scala headlining, plus Lee Drake (Sunrise), Stu Finch & 2people supporting.

The production duo, are the powerhouse behind hugely successful EDM tracks from the past few years with support and remix work from the likes of David Guetta, Axwell, Avicci and many more.

The entry price for the first event will be £5 all night. The pre bar/ Pure Lounge will open at 10pm with drinks offers through till 12am when the events arena opens. In addition to this everyone will receive a free shot with their first drink.

Matthew is passionate about his new venture and with so many venues closing this is indeed great news for the North West club scene.

The oldest hobo? Cat aged 20 living as stray

BY ANDY MOFFATT
andy.moffatt@jpress.co.uk
Tel: 0786 05311304

Animal welfare officers in St Helens are attempting to trace the owners of a 20-year-old stray cat who was found wandering the streets.

An elderly cat and a dog were found wandering the streets

A member of the public found the animal near a house in Prescot and called the RSPCA.

After checking the cat's mircochip, officers found the it had previously lived in St Helens and is at least 20 years old, a ripe old age for a cat.

RSPCA animal collection officer Derek Hampson said: "We know from the microchip details the cat was from Cats Protection back in 1994 so he is at least 20 years old.

"Unfortunately he is a bit poorly at the moment so he is being treated in one of our clinics but his issues all relate to old age.

"He is such an old chap we would love to be able to reunite him with his owner and to get him home where he belongs.

"We would urge anyone who recognises him or who knows where he may be from to contact us as soon as possible."

Anyone with information about the cat should contact the RSPCA on the Inspector line 0300 123 8018.

Meanwhile, dog wardens in St Helens rescued a male dog which was found running loose along Old Garswood Road in Garswood.

A spokesman said" "It was seen wandering off into the farmers fields. When picked up, although wary, it is obviously used to vehicles as it promptly jumped into the back of the warden's van without any fuss.

Any person who may have witnessed a white coloured dog being left by the roadside should contact the Dog Welfare and Enforcement Service on 01744 676338.

In-depth chronicle reliving momentous period in history

Welcome to the first of a series of special supplements telling the incredible and often terrible story of the First World War.

Every fortnight for the next eight weeks, we will be bringing you a chronicle of the many events that made up the 'war to end all wars'. From the fateful shot which killed Archduke Franz Ferdinand to the horrors of trench warfare, and to the signing of the Armistice, the four years of conflict laid the foundations for the twentieth century and the modern world.

And we are proud to use this historical project to support the work of the Royal British Legion and Poppyscotland.

Their work supporting and providing welfare to servicemen and women is as relevant today as nearly a century ago – and we hope our readers will gain a deeper understanding of why the poppy became an enduring symbol of remembrance.

What became of Princip?

Gavrilo Princip never really witnessed the chaos he unleashed. Arrested moments after the shooting in Sarajevo, he was quickly sentenced to 20 years in jail (local law stated the death sentence could only be given to criminals over the age of 20). Kept in relative isolation, he knew little of events outside his cell, and died in 1918, shortly before the end of the war, from tuberculosis.

Archduke Franz Ferdinand and Duchess Sophie, at Sarajevo City Hall, two minutes before they were assassinated

Warning shot that rang out across Europe

The assassination of two members of the Austro-Hungarian royal family in Bosnia would soon become the spark that led to the inferno of war

By Nel Staveley
Press Association

On June 28, 1914, Archduke Franz Ferdinand, heir to the throne of Austria-Hungary, climbed into an open-top car with his wife, Duchess Sophie, and set off on an official tour of Sarajevo, capital city of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

In 1908, Bosnia Herzegovina had been annexed by Ferdinand's uncle, Franz Josef 1, Emperor of Austria, and now, Ferdinand was there on a customary visit to 'check on the troops'.

But it soon descended into chaos. Many of the native people of Bosnia, and neighbouring Serbia, resented being ruled by Austria, and dreamt of becoming an independent nation which united ethnic Slavs from all the southern Balkan states.

That summer morning, six members of the underground Serbian Black Hand terrorist movement aimed to make that dream into reality - positioning themselves along the streets of Sarajevo, armed with bombs and guns, ready to assassinate Franz Ferdinand as the royal car passed, and begin their bid for freedom.

At first, the plan disastrously unravelled; a bomb thrown by one conspirator bounced from the car's hood, exploding in the crowd and injuring policemen instead. Panicked by the commotion, the five other would-be assassins fled their posts, thinking their chance had passed.

But, by a stroke of fate, the route that one - Gavrilo Princip, a 19-year-old Bosnian student - was taking home happened to cross with the Archduke's new route, redirected after the bomb.

Seizing his pistol – and his place in history – Princip fired two perfect, fatal shots at Franz Ferdinand and his wife.

Most of Europe's reaction to the deaths was initially muted, dismissing them as nothing but an act of small-minded Serbian terrorism.

But that was soon to change.

Three weeks later, on July 23, Emperor Franz Josef decided to use his nephew's death as an excuse to suppress Slav rebellion, issuing an ultimatum to Serbia that insisted they must comply with strict terms, like suppressing all anti-Austrian propaganda.

Unsurprisingly, they refused, and five days later, on July 28, 1914, Austria-Hungary officially declared war on Serbia.

It was a declaration that would plunge Europe headfirst into the deadly Great War.

AUGUST 4, 1914

The early 20th century was deep in an age of imperialism, with most European powers boasting colonies far across the Indian, Pacific and Atlantic Oceans.

When the First World War broke out, these colonies inevitably became drawn into the fighting, creating a global conflict on a scale history had never seen – 32 countries would be present when the final peace treaty of the war, the Treaty of Versailles, was drawn up in 1919.

Of course, this huge number of countries meant huge numbers of soldiers too. Over the course of the war, the Allied powers mobilized nearly 40 million troops, and the Central Powers, 24 million. By 1918, a staggering nine million soldiers on both sides would be killed – another 21 million would be wounded.

A few countries managed to remain neutral throughout the war but even they would be affected by changes in the global economy, and the sheer horror of watching the rest of the world destroy itself.

Winston Churchill's fiasco

Winston Churchill may have become a national hero during the Second World War, but in 1915, as First Lord of the Admiralty, he was heavily involved in pushing for the Gallipoli invasion, and was blamed for its ultimate fiasco. He was forced to resign and was put in command of an infantry battalion in France instead. It took years for his political reputation to recover.

Family binds

Despite his eagerness to go to war with Britain, Kaiser Wilhelm II actually had a significant link with this country – he was the cousin of King George V, and the grandson of Queen Victoria.

At the war's outbreak, the British Royal family went by the Germanic-sounding name Saxe-Coburg-Gotha – which dated from Queen Victoria's marriage in 1840 to the German Prince Albert, son of the Duke of Saxe-Coburg & Gotha; in 1917 they changed it to the more English-sounding Windsor.

Plunging into darkness

On the eve of Britain's declaration of war on Germany, Sir Edward Grey, the Foreign Secretary, reportedly watched London's street lamps being lit and said to a friend: "The lamps are going out all over Europe; we shall not see them lit again in our lifetime."

Giving tired walls a new look needn't cost a fortune

I SECOND THAT EMULSION

Dealing with interior walls that have seen better days can be a challenge, but there is a solution. Many solutions, in fact, depending on your budget and your level of DIY skills writes Julia Gray

Wallpaper as a concept may have come back into fashion but that doesn't mean every design of it is.

So if your home is a nightmare of swirly, flowery or textured wallpaper (unless that's your taste, of course), what can you do about it?

Painting over the wallpaper is the easiest option, and using a basecoat emulsion – Crown Paints does a good one – will make it easier still.

Basecoats are designed to cover patterns and strong colours in fewer coats than it would take with standard emulsion, saving you time and effort.

The problem with painting over wallpaper, especially if it's been up for years, is that it will eventually start to come away from the wall, often at the seams. If it has already begun to do this, you can remove the affected sections of wallpaper with a craft knife and cover the missing bits with filler – although this isn't a great long-term solution.

You can also simply paint textured wallpaper, but this only works if you like the texture.

Textured wallpaper was often used in the past to cover up less-than-perfect walls, so if you do decide to get rid of it, be prepared to do some replastering (especially as plaster can come away with the wallpaper when you strip it off).

If you can't face the cost and mess of replastering, filler (or, in the worst cases, plaster repair and skim products) can work wonders, but this filling and then sanding can be very time-consuming and will only go so far.

Some walls are beyond repair, unless you line or replaster them, and even then you often have to fill and sand, especially if the plasterer before you has been a bit sloppy.

Newly plastered walls and ceilings can develop hairline cracks, especially over lath and plaster or if the plaster is 'force' dried with heat, in which case lining paper or wallpaper will hold in the cracks.

Alternatively, Polycell Flexible Gap Polyfilla (£2.89, amazon.co.uk) is the best filler I've found to keep hairlines cracks looking at their best.

If you opt for lining paper, paste-the-wall ones are the easiest to use, as you simply apply wallpaper paste to the wall with a brush or roller and then hang the paper.

You don't have to wait for the paste to soak into the paper and you don't have to grapple with soggy lengths of paper.

While replastering gives a better finish, thick lining paper can be used to improve the appearance of lumpy walls – that said, the lumps and bumps will still be noticeable if light falls across them (lamps are one of the worst offenders).

Blown plaster (plaster that's spongy and moves slightly when pressed on) can also be held in place with lining paper, as long as you don't put any weight, such as tiles, shelves, or coat hooks, on it.

If your walls have seen better days in terms of smoothness, the best way to enhance uneven walls is to use a chalky or flat-matt emulsion.

Paint with any kind of sheen, such as silk emulsion, will emphasise the flaws, so avoid it at all costs.

The rear garden could well be a full blown allotment, it could be ideally suited to a summer house, it could just be left as a play area. The possibilities are endless. Add to this the modern fixtures and fittings found inside the property and you have something well worth viewing. E46

Hexham Close, Nutgrove £138,500

'STEADY' HOMES PRICE RISE

HOUSE prices lifted by 8.5% year-on-year in April as demand from home buyers "remains strong", Halifax has reported.

But on a month-on-month basis, values dipped by 0.2%, marking the second monthly fall in a row and taking average prices to £177,648.

Halifax said monthly changes can often be volatile and price movement compared with the previous quarter tends to be more reliable when working out the underlying trend in the market.

On this measure, prices have increased by 2.3% compared with the preceding three months, which is in line with the quarterly trend over the past 11 months.

The annual pace of increase is slightly down on an 8.7% year-on-year rise in March, but Halifax said upward pressure on prices is still coming from demand continuing to grow at a stronger pace than the supply of homes coming up for sale. A mortgage lending clampdown came into force on April 26 and some experts have said this could slow down the market.

Applicants face being asked more detailed questions about their spending habits under the Mortgage Market Review (MMR) rules.

There have also been some signs of mortgage rates edging up in recent weeks. Much of this has been put down to increases in swap rates, which lenders use to price their loans, but some analysts have also suggested lenders might consider putting rates up a bit to stem the tide of mortgage applications while they adjust to the MMR changes.

Stephen Noakes, mortgages director at Halifax, said: "On an annual basis, housing demand still remains strong. Housing demand continues to be supported by an economic recovery that is gathering pace, rising consumer confidence, low interest rates and wage growth finally beginning to outgrow consumer prices.

Despite a slight dip, property prices are on course for a 2014 upturn

"However, with supply of properties being slow to respond to market conditions, stronger demand in the past year has resulted in upward pressure on house prices."

Speculation has been mounting in recent days that the Bank of England could step in to cool the housing market, amid fears that prices are rising too rapidly.

Halifax pointed to findings from the Royal Institution of Chartered Surveyors (Rics) showing that the supply of homes coming on the market is still failing to keep pace with demand.

But it also highlighted HM Revenue and Customs (HMRC) house sales figures showing that transactions have dropped off recently and Bank of England figures which have shown a recent dip in mortgage approvals.

Howard Archer, chief UK and European economist at IHS Global Insight, said: "It is notable that housing market data have become more mixed recently after showing clear, sustained improvement for the best part of a year.

"The recent more variable news on the housing market may ease some concern that a housing market bubble is developing and the recently-introduced stronger rules on mortgage lending may well have a significant containing impact - but it is still a significant danger that policymakers must monitor closely and react to if necessary."

Nicholas Ayre, managing director of buying agency Home Fusion, said the monthly dip in the figures could be a sign that buyers are starting to become a bit more resistant to the prices that sellers are asking.

Mr Ayre said: "However, this may just be a blip rather than the beginning of a downwards trend in prices. Prices still rose on the quarter and on the year."

Expert Advice Available For First Time Buyers

Morris Homes is holding a first time buyer event this weekend – 17th & 18th May – to provide househunters in St Helens and Newton-le-Willows with expert advice on buying a home.

The events will be held at Morris Homes' Waterside Village development, on Lowfield Lane in St Helens, and at College Place on Crow Lane East in Newton-le-Willows. Prospective homeowners will have the opportunity to speak to an Independent Finanical Advisor (IFA) about mortgage options and have the opportunity to see inside some of the new homes available.

The new Ashridge showhome at Waterside Village will be open to provide buyers with ideas on decorating their own new homes. The stunning property has been professionally styled by designers, to showcase some of the latest interior trends.

Buyers will also receive expert advice on the schemes available to help them buy their new home.

Properties at Waterside Village and College Place are available with Help to Buy*, the government-backed scheme which reduces the deposit needed to buy a new home to just 5% of its value. A further 20% is provided by the government in the form of a loan, which is interest free for five years.

Sales advisors will also be able to offer information on schemes available for those who already have a home to sell. Under Morris Homes' own 100% Part Exchange† scheme the housebuilder will purchase a buyer's existing home for its full market value. With a guaranteed buyer in place there's no need to deal with estate agents or become involved in a chain, and buyers can move into their new property without delay.

Chris Minshall, regional sales director for Morris, said: "We've organised our first time buyer event to help make sure that buyers are fully aware of all the assistance available to them.

The call for calm thinking

As we approach 100 years since the outbreak of the First World War, we decided to delve into the Reporter's extensive archives and re-live how we reported the momentous news.

On August 4, 1914, under the headline "The War: How St Helens is affected", the Reporter published a series of articles related to the outbreak of the war.

Among the secondary headlines were "The mad dog of Europe - Kaiser gets his answer from Britain" and "United nation in time of peril - Exciting patriotic scenes".

The main piece told how Prime Minister Herbert Asquith had given Germany an ultimatum to provide satisfactory assurances with regards to Belgian neutrality. Sadly, that deadline was not met and Germany declared war on Belgium.

One extract from the Reporter read: "Without in any sense intending our words to be alarmist, it must be at once said that the prospect for St Helens is exceedingly grave. The call is for calm thinking, cool judgement and economy.

"Undoubtedly, economy is the great need of the hour if the worst effects of a world-wide war and a shortage of food and existence of famine prices are to be avoided.

"The people should at once - now - cultivate the habit of jealously guarding their every penny. There is no financial panic. Nor is there likely to be a shortage of ready cash in St Helens. But this does not minimise the absolute necessity of exercising the greatest care in matters of expenditure - as well as the emphatic necessity of using every possible economy with regards to food.

"Yesterday there was something of a mad rush to provisions shops. From an early hour anxious housewives flocked to the shops to make heavy purchases. In nearly every case orders were quickly met but the spirit of panic was gaining ground."

Under the headline "How St Helens Mobilised" came another extract which read: "Through the afternoon yesterday there were continuous arrivals at the Post Office on Church Street of groups of young men. They peered in at the doors and scrutinised all the notices. To casual onlookers they may have looked like curious idlers - but by 8pm their purpose became apparent. At that time a notice was posted in the window ordering all army reservists to report to their respective depots within 24 hours and all territorials to report to headquarters immediately.

"At once there was a stir in the street which quickly became a stream of men with papers in their hands."

A comment piece penned by the Reporter's editor added: "We are confident that the admirable dignity and self-restraint of the last days will continue.

"War has been thrust upon us. We accept the unsought challenge, certainly without any joy, but as certainly with a grim determination to hold our high place among the nations."

Beginning of a nightmare

After the defiant declaration of war came the inevitable British moment of realisation – that German troops would not be easy to beat

Just two days after they invaded Belgium, 320,000 German soldiers descended on the small city of Liege to face 35,000 Belgian troops.

In what became the first battle of World War 1, the Belgians fought off German soldiers for ten days; but eventually, they succumbed, leaving Germany to continue their deadly march.

First, they swept into the capital Brussels, then into Antwerp, then on and on, toppling town after town on their way.

On August 23 they arrived outside the small town of Mons, near the French border, where they met 35,000 men from the British Expeditionary Force who were on the town's canal banks, ready to fight. Despite being outnumbered two-to-one, they fought for six long hours; but, finally, weary and overpowered, the British were forced to retreat. Over the next two weeks German troops forced them back 200 miles, almost as far as Paris.

German troops marching through Berlin at the beginning of the war

It now looked like the Allies were facing impossible odds, but on September 6, hope came with the Battle of Marne.

The British, combined with the French army, launched an aggressive counter-offensive, leaving 250,000 German casualties, and gaining vital ground back into Belgium.

British troops had fought bravely, but they were massively outnumbered. The nature of the battles was unprecedented too; both sides were already digging the infamous trenches which came to epitomise the Great War and its stalemate.

And as the mild 1914 autumn plunged into a bitter winter, the war almost everyone claimed 'would be over by Christmas', had in fact, barely begun.

Counting the war

Meticulous monthly records were kept on every aspect of the First World War, providing details not just of the fighting, but the huge logistical effort involved in supplying food and equipment to millions of men

- The total British and British Empire armed forces deaths in the First World War reached more than 908,000.
- The estimated strength of the empire forces, at home and abroad, in November 1918 was more than 3.22 million.
- More than 136 million pairs of socks were supplied to troops from the start of the war to March 1919.
- From August 9, 1914, to November 10, 1918, more than 5.25 million tons of ammunition was shipped to France.
- From the beginning of the war to the end of March 1919, a total of 3,080 death sentences were passed on British and Empire troops and other camp followers for offences such as desertion and mutiny – only 346 were actually carried out.
- From December 23, 1914, to July 20, 1918, a total of 619 British civilians, including 142 children, were killed in air raids, with 1,650 injured.
- 578 Victoria Crosses – the highest military decoration for bravery "in the face of the enemy" – were awarded to British forces from August 1914 to May 1920.
- The average daily expenditure of the war reached £7.45 million in the period April 1 to May 5, 1917.
- Daily rations issued to troops in France at the beginning of the war included 1.25lbs of bread, four ounces of bacon, three ounces of cheese and three ounces of sugar. By the beginning of 1918, the daily bread ration had been reduced to 1lb, with cheese down to two ounces.

The big questions

Q How did the major European countries get themselves into a position where the assassination of Archduke Franz Ferdinand triggered war?

A By the turn of the century, the major European powers were locked in a race for supremacy in both arms and empire. Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany was determined his land forces would match those of Russia to the east and France to the west. He also wanted to equal the might of the British Royal Navy, embarking on a major programme of battleship production, known as the Naval Race, which alienated the two countries. At the same time, all these powers had global colonial ambitions, with Germany, a newcomer to 'the Great Game', particularly eager to build a quick empire. Most historians agree this mix of national pride and ambition made a major conflict all but inevitable.

Q Why was the final death toll so high?

A It was the first major war fought on an industrial scale with both sides harnessing their manufacturing sectors to produce huge quantities of armaments, including the first real organized production of chemical weapons. All the major players also organised mass mobilisations, throwing more and more soldiers into the deadly trench warfare, in a bid to break the war's stalemate. Both sides grossly miscalculated how long the conflict would last, too, with many in Britain believing it would 'all be over by Christmas' and the Germans believing it would take just a matter of weeks.

Q So who was to blame for World War 1?

A Critics believe the huge death toll of the war demonstrated a callous willingness by military and political leaders to sacrifice the lives of their troops in a bloody war of attrition. But defenders of Britain's role argue the country's leaders were fighting a just, moral conflict, while grappling for the first time with industrial warfare on an unprecedented scale.

The first industrial-scale trench war came at a high price

Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany and the other leaders of Europe boasted damagingly aggressive foriegn polic

Q It was described at the time as 'the war to end all wars'. What went wrong?

A The Treaty of Versailles, signed by Germany and the Allied powers at the end of the war, forced the Germans to disarm, make substantial territorial concessions and pay reparations. It caused bitter resentment among many Germans, while not actually being harsh enough to destroy Germany's ability to rebuild. This was ruthlessly exploited by Adolf Hitler and his Nazi Party who seized power in 1933.

Fatal Linkway crash an accident

By Chris Amery
chris.amery@jpress.co.uk
@ChrisAmery2

A coroner ruled that the death of an elderly pedestrian who was struck by a car on the St Helens Linkway was an accident.

Eighty-year-old Albert George Farrington was struck by a grey Ford Fiesta while attempting to cross the southbound carriageway near Rainhill Stoops on the morning of September 10 last year.

An inquest held at St Helens Town Hall heard how the retired painter and decorator would go out for a walk from his Toftwood Avenue home every day.

Although he had been warned by his family to steer clear of the Linkway, it was a route Mr Farrington had strolled along for the best part of 45 years.

He was struck by the Fiesta at about 10.20am while attempting to cross the carriageway at a recognised pedestrian crossing, and sustained multiple serious injuries.

Tragically, he was pronounced dead by paramedics just 20 minutes later.

Collision investigator Constable Paul Clark subsequently carried out a forensic examination of the scene.

Tyre marks left on the roadway in the outside lane suggested that the driver of the Fiesta had attempted to steer to the left while braking.

The driver told officers she had been driving at 70mph but had started to slow down on the approach to the Rainhill Stoops motorway junction at the time of the collision.

The speed of the Fiesta could not be accurately calculated, but the damage caused by the crash indicated a speed of less than 70mph.

PC Clark concluded that Mr Farrington may have either failed to spot the car or misjudged its speed, leaving the driver precious little time to react.

'It was a route he had walked for the best part of 45 years'

Mr Farrington's family insisted he was simply in "the wrong place at the wrong time".

Although Mr Farrington had been diagnosed with Alzheimer's and suffered from depression, coroner Christopher Sumner ruled that the accident was most likely caused by a momentary loss of concentration which could have happened to anyone.

He recorded a verdict of accidental death.

Albert George Farrington.

Man freed from mud after car collision

Firefighters rescued a motorist who was found waist-deep in mud following an early hours crash.

Emergency crews were called to Bold Lane, Bold, after a white Ford Transit van careered off the road.

The driver then became stuck waist-deep in mud after climbing out of his vehicle.

Watch manager Pete Nelson, of St Helens Fire Station, said: "It appears the man became stuck up to his waist in mud after climbing out of the vehicle following the collision.

"We spread the weight of the man using a number of sections of a triple extension ladder and tied a line around him to help him out of the mud.

"The situation could have been worse though as the man was already cold and wet when we arrived."

Firefighters from St Helens Fire Station were joined at the scene by both the search teams.

FIRST DRIVE: MCLAREN 650S SPIDER

A NEW SUPERPOWER

MATT KIMBERLEY
newsroom@lancspublications.co.uk
@StHelensReport

WHAT'S new?: The 650S is essentially an evolution of the 12C, but with such a comprehensive spectrum of upgrades that symbolically it's more like a brand new car.

It's faster, better balanced and has an even broader range of talents at both ends of the performance/comfort scale.

Its mighty turbocharged V8 engine now has the sort of power you used to get only in unobtanium-rare hypercars, and the fact that the 650S is half a second faster to 100mph than the legendary McLaren F1 tells its own story. This thing is crushingly, breathlessly fast.

Looks and image: McLaren's engineers and test drivers are keen to point out that styling is a mere trifle of a concern to come after making sure the mechanicals are the best in the business.

That said, a new front end adds significant downforce to keep those sticky-tyred front wheels pinned hard to the floor. The image is in the same vein as Porsche's, in that McLaren is rightly seen as a technological powerhouse, whose cars' engineering prowess is the equivalent of a huge handlebar moustache and an improbably large chest. Ye olde concepts of masculinity blend with an appreciation for 21st century tech that works, and works astonishingly well.

Space and practicality: While you probably won't want to throw away the estate car just yet, the 650S Spider has a pleasantly cavernous front boot and, if you're willing to leave the roof up, a smaller extra boot between the seats and the engine.

There's plenty of practical space for weekend trips away – and as a rule McLarens are among the most used supercars of them all.

Behind the wheel: Full throttle in this car feels like being squeezed under a very large boot. Your lungs struggle against the g-force as 650 apparently very cross horsepowers shove you back into your seat after the slightest of delays waiting for the two huge turbochargers to kick in.

Ruthless Brook pounce

RUGBY LEAGUE

Blackbrook 90
Peterlee Pumas 0

Blackbrook showed no mercy by scoring 16 tries in their demolition of lowly Peterlee.

Stephen Parkinson started the scoreboard ticking with two tries in the opening five minutes.

And, in the next 15 minutes, Brook were already out of sight courtesy of tries from Joe Bate, Sean Richardson and Aaron Hewitt - who finished in the corner following a sparkling move involving Greg Hale and Sam Long on his debut following a pre-season injury.

Hale then made the break for Mark Webster's try and minutes later the Brook skipper helped himself to a try as Brook kept the ball alive on the last tackle.

Darren Forshaw spotted a gap in the defence to race away for a solo try and just before the half time whistle Danny Parkes lofted a kick into the corner for Hewitt who leapt the highest to collect and touchdown.

The home side went in at half time with a 50-point lead.

Plucky Peterlee found some resistance and held Brook at bay for the opening 10 minutes of the second half however Long broke the deadlock with his first try for the club following a break from the ruck by Danny Fairhurst.

Two minutes later Dave Scott sent Parkinson over for his hat-trick.

Parkinson then made the breaks for Brook's next two tries - sending Hewitt over for his hat-trick before a carbon-copy move sent Hale racing away for his second score.

Hale completed his hat-trick in the 70th minute and crossed for his fourth try just two minutes later.

With five minutes remaining prop Josh Glynn created the space for Jordy Welsby to stroll over for Brook's final score, with Parkinson converting his 13th goal of the afternoon to equal his club record of 38 points in a game.

Wello happy to put business first

I had a wry smile when reading an e-mail from the Rugby Football League that Specsavers - the official partner of the First Utility Super League - had also teamed up with Leeds Rhinos player Jamie Peacock as its eyesight ambassador on the pitch.

Part of the e-mail included a comment from top referee Richard Silverwood who was among a group of whistlers present at the Leeds Specsavers store last week to ensure their eyesight was up to scratch and firmly focused on their game.

The 37-year-old Dewsbury-born international official said: "Good vision is massively important for match officials as without it we wouldn't be able to do our job."

Saints' fans don't need reminding of that -- they reckon Mr Silverwood made two wrong decisions in the Tetley's Challenge Cup tie at Leeds which cost the club a place in the quarter finals of the competition, ending their Wembley dreams!

Incidentally, partnering Super League follows Specsavers successful sponsorship of the match officials at Rugby League World Cup last year.

'Sunday was a good day for Saints' skipper'

■ I was a case of business before pleasure for Paul Wellens (pictured) on Sunday.

As his beloved Manchester City were marching to their second Barclays Premiership title in three season, the Saints skipper was totally focused on ensuring his home-town club were heading for their 10th victory in 12 Super League outings when they faced Brdford at Odsal.

Wello had to spend the best part of an hour fidgeting on the subs' but no doubt kept abreast of what was going on at the Etihad Stadium.

In the end it proved a good day all round for the club's longest-serving player -

Saints crushing the Bulls 50-0 and City cruising to a comfortable 2-0 win over West Ham United.

■ Rugby League chief executive Nigel Wood's assertion that the sport needs a higher international profile in order to realise its commercial potential will be sweet music to the ears of my St Helens-born media colleague Ray French.

Ray - a dual code international during his playing days - has been banging his drum for goodness know how long for the powers-that-be to resurrect a British Lions tour of Australia which at on time of the day was one of the highlights of a players career and dovetailing with the World Cup and the Four Nations tournament could futher enhance the image of the sport on a global basis.

I just hope that Mr Wood will be able to use his persuasive powers as the new chairman of the Rugby League International Federation to get it off the ground, athough the Aussies are not always easy to please.

Dotters and Davies bowl 'em over

RAINFORD CC

Rainford achieved their third successive victory in the Med Imaging Liverpool and District Cricket Competition Division One with a comprehensive 123 win at Wavertree.

Spin bowlers John Dotters (4 for 14) and skipper Andy Davies (4 for 27) bowled them to the win after the batsmen had set the game up with 220 for 4 declared.

Openers Dave Tully (87) and Matt Bailey (52) laid an excellent foundation with the good work carried on by John Dotters (29 not out) and Ravi Mistry (24 not out).

Despite the rain showers there was just enough time for Wavertree to be dismissed for 97.

The second XI drew with Wavertree seconds in a rain-affecteded game after making 161 with Will Tabern (37) and Matt Campbell (33). Wavertee were 125 for 6 at the close.

Stark five wicket haul seals victory

ST HELENS CC

St Helens Town first XI went top of the league with a three wicket win at home to Birkenhead St Marys.

With rain about Town skipper Woods won the toss and elected to field and St Helens then went about their business with the ball.

James Davies and Phil Murgatroyd with three early wickets between them left the score on 20-3 before a mini partnership took the score too 55-3 before 18-year-old fast bowler Michael Stark came into the attack and tore into the Birkenhead middle order with five wickets in six overs leaving him with figures of 5-39.

The away side where eventually bowled out for 117.

Town set about the chase with a good opening partnership of 65 from Gaskell (32) and Knowles (30) before both where dismissed within the space of 10 balls which sparked a mini collapse to leave Town 80-5, a partnership between Stark and Roberts took the score to 100 before they where both dismissed leaving town 100-7.

With a tense finish in sight it took cool heads from veteran Bob Kenny and ex-skipper Matty Fisher to finish the job and see Town over the line and take them top of the league with a three wicket victory.

Meanwhile, the second XI were rained off at Highfield.

Sutton's weekend weather wash out

SUTTON CC

Both Sutton's first XI and second XI matches against Spring View fell victim to the weather on Saturday. The Sunday XI game against Newton-le-Willows also had to be cancelled due to boating like conditions on the outfield.

The first XI will now prepare for a visit to North Wales to take on Prestatyn next Saturday whilst the second XI host the reverse fixture at the New Street Oval.

The Sunday XI will look to continue their impressive start with a home fixture against Newburgh.

Aidan's mother, Angela, said: "Aidan had been a junior instructor since achieving his junior black belt but can now teach others of all ages.

"He wants to continue to assist at St Teresa's and at the YMCA once he's finished his GCSEs."

Overall, an afternoon that provided good rewards for the work done by the runners over the last winter.

Odsal victory thrills team chief Brown

Nathan Brown was thrilled with the number of his players who are reaching top form as St Helens moved back to within a point of the Super League leaders Leeds by pummelling hapless Bradford 50-0 at the Odsal stadium.

Brown watched on as Saints ran in nine tries and kept their second from bottom of the table opponents pointless, with Luke Walsh contributing 18 points through a try and seven goals in blustery kicking conditions.

Brown said: "We had some people who I thought had their best games for a while and on the back of their efforts it brought Robes (hooker James Roby) into the game.

"He was superior, I felt, to anyone else on the field and that comes off the back of people working with him.

"We had about six kids on the field who have played only ten, 15 or 20 Super League games so the guys should feel really happy.

"Sia (Soliola) was outstanding and he has a big effect on how our team performs - he had a great impact.

"Louie McCarthy has got better and better this last three weeks since coming back from a set-back and Mose Masoe's contribution was better, plus all the youngsters had a real impact on how we attack and how we defend.

Nathan Brown

"We came here today after they had had two great wins against good teams and we had to work hard to get to where we did.

"They were disrupted a bit by losing Luke Gale but it still wasn't handed to us."

Bradford boss Francis Cummins said: "We started well but then gave them too much cheap ball and you cannot afford to do that against a side like St Helens. After that we went into free-fall a little."

High-riding Saints put lowly Bulls to sword

BRADFORD	0

By John Yates

@StHelensRep

Look no further than the final scoreline to evaluate the huge chasm in class and total all-round ability between these two teams.

One is riding high in Super League and the other a 'fallen giant' already struggling to avoid the dreaded drop and also praying that a deduction of six points imposed for entering administration will shortly be overturned on appeal. Second-in-the-table Saints were simply streets ahead of the bedraggled Bulls and had it been a boxing match the towel would have been tossed into the ring long before the end.

It was almost too one sided for words and while being nilled is not a rarity in Rugby League to suffer it at home, as Bradford did, can be nothing short of embarrassing.

But victorious St Helens boss Nathan Brown refused to accept at the post-match press conference that it had been little more than a training session for his title chasers who ran in nine unanswered tries to silence the home crowd at wind-swept Odsal on Sunday.

Thomas Makinson runs with the ball at Odsal

Brown said: "We came here after Bradford had achieved two great wins - one at the expense of the Catalan Dragons in the Tetley's Challenge Cup and the previous Sunday's 34-28 league success over Warrington Wolves - and had to work hard for everything we got."

Victory was built on the dominance of the Saints' pack who paved the way for the likes of Roby's fellow ball artistes, Jonny Lomax, Lance Hohaia and Luke Walsh, to show their subtle skills and to be perfectly honest the final points margin beween the two sides could have been even wider had Brown's boys been more clinical with their finishing, especially in the first half.

Early on, however, there was little to suggest the mayhem which followed as the Bulls, boosted by successive penalties, asked questions of the Saints' defence.

Unfortunately the threat, as far as the hosts were concerned, didn't last too long and they found themselves trailing in the 11th minute after a surging Matt Dawson break was the prelude to Jon Wilkin forcing his way over for the opening try and Walsh landing the goal.

Action from Saints 50-0 victory over Bulls

> 'Victory was built on the dominance of Saints pack'

Loss of control close to the line prevented substitute Mose Masoe from claming only his second try of the campaign but Saints doubled their lead after 28 minutes.

It was set up by Hohaia's outrageous dummy and finished off by the supporting Walsh, who also added the extras. The scrum half was to the fore again a few minutes later when his clever chip kick was palmed backwards by Tom Makinson into the hands of Lomax who touched down under pressure.

Antonio Kaufusi and Jay Pitts combined to put Adam O'Brien within touchng distance of grabbing Braford's first try but a bone-shuddering tackle from substitute Sio Soliol stopped him his tracks,

It was an outstanding piece of defensive play and Saints were rewarded by notching their fourth try on the stroke of half-time - Wilkin darting in under to post and Walsh, who had created the opening, adding his third conversion from four attempts. Any remote hopes the Bulls had of staging a second-half revival were dashed in the 45th minute when leading try scorer Tom Makinson roared in from Josh Jones' off-load and some inventive attacking play, Fellow winger Adam Swift crossed after another move of high quality, only to retire minutes later through injury and replaced by skipper Paul Wellens.

But Saints continued to turn the screw and added further tries via Soliola (64 mins) Louie McCarthy-Scarsbrook (72 min) and Roby (75 mins) with Walsh taking his final goal-kicking tally to seven from nine attempts.

'I am happy where we are in title race'

St Helens Kyle Amor is tackled by Salford Red Devils' Lama Tasi and Tim Smith (right), during the First Utility Super League match at the AJ Bell Stadium, Salford

BY JOHN YATES
sthelens.sportsdesk@lep.co.uk
@StHelensReport

Saints coach Nathan Brown has declared himself satisfied with the progress his team is making at the half-way stage of the Super League season.

Speaking ahead of Sunday's Magic Weekend showdown with neighbours Warrington Wolves at the home of Barclays Premiership champions Manchester City, the St Helens boss declared: "If someone had said at the start of the season we would be in second spot by mid-May I would have taken it.

He said: "We are confident and I think people forget we are only a point behind Leeds Rhinos and still the only team to beat them this season.

"All teams lose games during the year and we've had a flat period - some due to our own performance and some due to circumstances.

"I am happy where we are in the title race and despite the disappointment of the Tetley's Challenge Cup loss at Headingley when beaten by the best team in the comp, I don't think there is any need to worry about our confidence going forward."

Brown is also keeping his fingers crossed that key members of his first team squad, Jordan Turner (foot injury) and dead leg victims Mark Percival and Gary Wheeler, will return to the squad this weekend but a final decision on their fitness will be left until the 11th-hour.

It will help compensation for the continued absence of Kyle Amor (out for three months with knee ligament trouble), Willie Manu (fractured thumb) and Anthony Laffranchi (arm damage).

Warrington, too, have been suffering from a spate of injuries lately but are beginning to see light at the end of the tunnel and hopefully will have scrum half Richie Myler in contention for a starting spot.

International second rower Ben Westwood, who has been sidelined for six week with a calf tear, is also close to a recall but whether he will be fully fit by this weekend is open to debate.

Saints go into Sunday's match with one victory over their neighbours in 2014 - a convincing 38-8 success at the Halliwell-Jones Stadium in February.

It was the start of an eight-match unbeaten run in Super League, which came to an end with Easter setbacks against Wigan Warriors and Widnes Vikings.

Since then Saints have got back on the horse with wins over London Broncos and Bradford Bulls and will looking to make it three in row at the Etihad.

But in recent years it has been hard to predict the outcome of fixtures between two evenly matched clubs who more often than not have produced thrill-a-minute 80-minute blockbusters.

'That's key, to keep them improving'

TURN FROM THE BACK

He added: "We wouldn't be where we are with our squad this year if last year didn't occur. The likes of Adam Swift, Mark Percival and Joe Greenwood got that experience and then came into a pre season this year knowing exactly what was required.

"In two or three years they're all going to be far better players for that experience. At the moment they've all improved a lot on last year and that's the key - to keep improving."

Brown also described news that star prop Kyle Amor will only be out for three months with the knee injury he sustained against Leeds as "a big bonus".

He had feared that Amor would be out for the season after he limped off at Headingley in the 32-12 Challenge Cup defeat. But tests have since shown that the 26-year-old does not need surgery - despite damaging the ligament on the side of his knee.

Brown said: "We thought his season could have been over so three months, as bad as that sounds, is actually a big bonus for us.

"He'll have some hurdles to overcome before then but, at the moment, the doctors don't think he needs surgery, which is pleasing. "

Brown also issued an upbeat assessment on Jordan Turner's injury. Initially, medics feared he had broken his foot in the same game but scans have since shown that it was just ligament damage.

Brown said the 25-year-old was "coming along well".

Despite being unlikely to be available for selection against Warrington this Sunday, Turner is expected to be back in the fold soon.

Club medics remain mystified about Anthony Laffranchi's likely return date however. The veteran Aussie has already been sidelined for several weeks with nerve damage in his arm and Brown admitted "he's not coming back in the short term".

Jim Forshaw St Helens Schools' Cup returns

Langtree Park will once more be the venue for the Jim Forshaw St Helens Schools' Cup Finals on Wednesday, June 4.

As in previous seasons, the three Year 7, 9 and 11 finals are at Langtree Park, while Year 8 and 10 will be held at Thatto Heath on June 5.

The Paul Wellens Cup Final (Year 7s) will kick off at 5.30pm, the Chris Arkwright Cup Final (Year 9s) will start at 6.45pm and the Alex

Murphy Cup Final (Year 11s) will commence at 8pm.

The player of the match awards along with trophies and medals will be chosen and presented by St Helens captain Paul Wellens, and ex-players Chris Arkwright and Alex Murphy respectively.

The following day the Eric Chisnall Cup Final (Year 8s) wll be staged wth a 2.30pm kick-off and followed by the Keiron Cunningham Cup Final (Year 10s) at 4pm.

Again the player of the match awards along with the trophies and medals will be chosen and presented by Saints 'old boys' Eric Chisnall and Keiron Cunningham respectively.

Saints U19s kept in touch with top spot following a convincing 58-12 win at Bradford Bulls on Thursday night.

Powerful forward Andre Savelio claimed a hat-trick and other scores were Lewis Charnock (2), Matthew Fozard, Daniel Abram, Daniel Richardson, Phil Atherton and Jake Spedding. Charnock landed seven goals and Dave Hewitt (2).

It was Saints eighth victory of the campaign, taking them on to 12 points, two adrift of Huddersfield Giants and four behind Warrington Wolves and Leeds Rhinos.

YOUNGSTERS STEPPING UP

Coach Nathan Brown has big plans

SAINTS

By Chris Amery
chris.amery@jpress.co.uk
@ChrisAmery2

Saints coach Nathan Brown has challenged the club's talented youngsters to step up to the mark in the absence of a string of established stars.

But he's confident they are more than up for the task after the likes of Mark Percival, Adam Swift and Joe Greenwood burst onto the scene during last season's injury nightmare.

Brown said: "Kids like Luke Thompson are definitely putting their name forward. He's had a couple of games now this year and is doing quite well.

"Matty Dawson seems to be fitting in and doing a good job for us every time he gets an opportunity too. But the challenge for the younger guys is consistency - that's the big challenge for any young kid.

"With the injuries we've got we're going to need more of them to play and we need them to play well to make sure we win our share of games and maintain a good position in the table."

A weekend filled with revenge...

The Magic Weekend action kicks off on Saturday at 12.30pm when London Broncos face Catalan Dragons, with the English club looking to avenge a 46-18 defeat in the corresponding fixture last year.

At 2.45pm, Widnes Vikings and Salford Red Devils do battle in a re-match of one of the closest contests of 2013, when Salford emerged victorious.

The mouth-watering cross-city derby, Hull FC v Hull Kingston Rovers takes centre stage from 5pm when the sport's biggest rivals go head-to-head in what is expected to be a highlights of the whole weekend.

Day one ends with an epic showdown between Super League defending champions Wigan Warriors and 2012 Grand Final winners Leeds Rhinos, kick-off at 7.15pm.

Local rivalry starts on Sunday which begins with the West Yorkshire clash between Wakefield Trinity Wildcats and Castleford Tigers at 12.30pm.

The sixth match of the weekend sees 2013 League Leaders Huddersfield Giants go up against Bradford Bulls (2.45pm), who have a point to make having lost 42-6 at the Etihad Stadium last summer.

The curtain then comes down on the weekend with the Saints v Warrington Wolves fixture at 5pm.

THE TRUTH ABOUT UKIP

Common sense politics? Anything but!

Tax cuts for the richest, and tax hikes for the rest!

UKIP would introduce a flat rate of tax, raising taxes for the poorest tax payers, while the rich would pay much less.

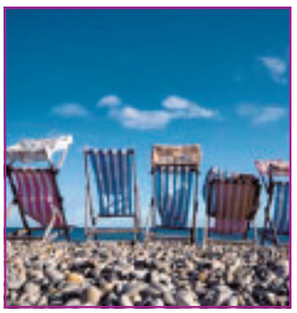
UKIP would also scrap rules that prevent tax avoidance by big companies.

Our NHS up for sale to the highest bidder.

UKIP would hand the whole of our NHS to private companies.

From ambulances to hospital wards, services would be auctioned off to the highest bidder

The NHS would be nothing more than a logo.



Paid holidays? Sick pay? Scrapped.

UKIP would scrap your legal right to four weeks paid holidays.

They'd also scrap other rights, like fixed working hours, pay when you are ill, or redundancy pay.

Maternity pay? Who needs it!

UKIP would cut the minimum maternity pay by more than half, to just £64 a week.

That's the equivalent to fewer than 10 hours' a week at the minimum wage.

UKIP think job security is a luxury that you should pay for with lower wages.
